

Did You Know...?

Alan Turing is considered to be one of the fathers of modern computing. In 1936, he predicted that humans would one day build machines that could solve any sort of problem by storing instructional codes in their memory. This is what the modern digital computer does.

“Those who can imagine anything, can create the impossible.” – Alan Turing

A = Q, R = E, T = B, H = O